

Rev. Ben M. Herbstein

Dr. Arnold B. Come, of Centre College, will be one of the principal speakers during Religious Emphasis Week. Dr. Come will address the faculty Monday.

Address Highlights Religious Emphasis Week On Campus

By Janet Anderson

Religious Emphasis Week, Monday through Thursday, will follow the general theme, "Design for Living." This week of lectures and programs dealing with the spiritual side of college life is sponsored annually by the Interfaith Council. Betty Dickinson, arts and sciences sophomore, is chairman of the event.

Highlighting the program will be an address at 7 p.m. Tuesday by the Rev. Ben Herbstein, pastor of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, Norwood, Ohio. Virginia Henry and Elliot Jones, presidents, respectively, of the YWCA and the YMCA, will preside at this campus-wide meeting, to be held in the Y Lounge of the SUB. Singing will be led by the Rev. George A. Jacobs, pastor of the Georgetown Christian Church.

Daily lectures on the beliefs of various religious groups will be held at 4 p.m. in the Music Room of the SUB.

Lecturers Are Listed

On Monday, Rabbi Joseph Rauch of Adath Israel Temple, Louisville, will present "The Jewish Faith"; Tuesday, the Rev. M. Francis Mielich, pastor of St. John's Catholic Church, Newport, will discuss "The Catholic Faith"; Wednesday, Dr. Arnold B. Come, head of the Department of Philosophy and Religion at Centre College, will speak on "The Protestant Faith"; and Thursday, Mr. Frank Hord, Louisville, will present "Christian Science."

Seminars also will be held at 5 p.m. daily in the Y Lounge, SUB. The schedule is: Monday, "What Can I Believe?" by Dr. Come; Tuesday, "Christian Ways and College Daze" (My Faith and My Future), by the Rev. T. B. Cowan, pastor of Everybody's Church, Lexington; Wednesday, "World Peace or Perish," by Rabbi Rauch; Thursday, "Love, Courtship, and Marriage," by Dr. James W. Gladden of the UK sociology department.

Come Speaks To Faculty

Dr. Come will be the speaker at a faculty luncheon to be held in the Student Union Cafeteria at 12 noon, Monday. Cost of the luncheon is $1. Reservations may be made by calling the YMCA office, according to Franklin Morris, Religious Emphasis publicity chairman.

Speeches and discussion groups in dormitories, fraternity and sorority houses, and classrooms will also be included in the four-day program, Morris said.

SGA Drops Plans For Directory

At this week's SGA meeting the student directory committee reported that student opinion favored discontinuance of plans for a 1949-50 Student Directory.

The change-over to the dial telephone system in Lexington made the directory, which was all ready to go to press, worthless.

The directory could not be published now for several more weeks.

SGA voted to use some of its reserve fund to purchase gold star memorials to the University's war dead. The gold stars with names inscribed will be imbedded at appropriate places in the hallway walls of the new coliseum.

The charters of Delta Sigma Pi and Theta Xi, new campus social fraternities, were accepted.

A committee was appointed to check with Bernard Schively, UK athletic director, to find out which sections of the new gymnasium will be reserved for students. The committee will also check to find out which sections in the stadium will be reserved for students next football season.

New committee appointments were made for the current semester.

The week of March 27 was set as the tentative date for SGA spring elections.

Convocation Is Feature Of Founders Week; Humanity Talks Stress Need For Fine Arts; Symposium, Musicales Conclude Observance

Drs. Donovan, McLain Speak Wednesday; Writers' Symposium To Be Held Tonight; Louisville Philharmonic Will Play Saturday

By Kathryn Whitmer

The eighty-fifth birthday of the University of Kentucky was celebrated Wednesday by formally presenting a new home to the art, music, speech, and drama departments and by honoring the men and women who were its founders.

President Herman L. Donovan called on the departments housed in the new Fine Arts Buildings to slant their programs in the direction of the people.

"The University of Kentucky is the people's university," he said. The University cannot become exclusively for the education of the genius because it belongs to and must serve all the people, President Donovan continued.

Dr. McLain Speaks

Closely allied to the hopes expressed by President Donovan were portions of Dr. Raymond F. McLain's address in which he pointed out the true meaning of the arts. Speaking on the subject, "John Doe, Artist," Dr. McLain declared that the nature of life itself is an inevitable struggle from which emerges art.

The arts work in human experience, he continued, through intensifying and clarifying that experience. In return, life requires of art both relevance and detachment. Dr. McLain continued, art, just as science, must have relevance to give it meaning in the human experience of its time, and it must have detachment to make it ageless.

Challenges Discussed

In his address, President Donovan also discussed the numerous challenges to the Fine Arts Department. For the Department of Art, and other art teachers throughout the state, he said, there is the challenge to bring about through their teachings the removal of so-called art objects from the roadside stands that line the Kentucky highways.

A. B. Guthrie Jr., author of "The Big Sky" and "The Way West" will be moderator at a symposium of Kentucky writers at 8 tonight in the Guignol Theatre. Kentuckyans Hollis Summers and Jesse Stuart will appear with him.

Also on the program will be William Sloane, New York publisher, and Robert Penn Warren, Pulitzer Prize winner.

Orchestra Participates

A concert by the Louisville Philharmonic Orchestra, featuring Nathaniel Patch, pianist, will be the closing feature of the Founders Week program. It will be given at Memorial Auditorium tomorrow starting at 8 p.m.

The Philharmonic, conducted by Robert Whitney, will present three selections of the four-part program, and will accompany Mr. Patch in the other. Mr. Patch has recently joined the music department of the University, and has given concerts here.

Part One From Opera

Part one of the concert will be the overture, "The Thievish Magpie" by Rossini. It is from the opera of the same name.

Part two will consist of "Symphony No. 3 in A minor, Opus 56" by Mendelssohn. This symphony is commonly called the "Scottish Symphony," having been inspired by a competition of Highland Pipers which Mendelssohn heard in 1829.

Patch Heard In Third Part

Mr. Patch will be heard in "Rhapsody on a Theme of Paganini, Opus 43" by Rachmaninoff in the third part of the program. This composition is in the form of 24 variations upon a theme from a caprice for the violin by the violinist Paganini.

The concluding number of the concert will be "Waltzes from 'Der Rosenkavalier,'" by Richard Strauss. Ushers for the concert will be members of Phi Beta and Phi Mu Alpha fraternities.

In a speech scheduled for last night, Philip Rhys Adams, director of the Cincinnati Academy of Fine Arts, was to speak on "The Place of Fine Arts in Our Society."

A portrait of Pres. Herman L. Donovan also was to have been unveiled.

Library Exhibit Carries Out Theme Of Founders Week

An exhibit of books written by Kentuckians or about Kentuckians is on display in the first floor foyer of the Main Building. The exhibit, carrying out the fine arts theme of Founders Week, these books reflect the meaning of Kentucky to several generations of American novelists, poets, and songwriters.

The exhibit, which opened Feb. 19, was prepared by Mrs. Hammond Dugan, associate archivist.

In nine showcases are displayed some of the University's rarest books concerning Kentucky frontier days, Kentucky at war, and the politics and products of the mountains. One case is filled with half-raising thrillers and dime novels, such as "The Phantom Hunter," and "Old Quick Hand," familiar names in nineteenth century Kentucky fiction.

Also on display are some of the better known works of leading Kentucky literary figures such as John Fox Jr., Elizabeth Maddox Roberts, James Lane Allen, Jesse Stuart, Irvin S. Cobb, and Joseph A. Altshuler. The original manuscripts of Fox's "Mountain Europa" and James Still's "Rivers of Earth" are displayed. There are also some manuscripts of John Jacob Niles, Kentucky's composer and singer of folk music.

Summer Trips Are Offered

American students who want to travel this summer are offered a choice of 27 trips planned by the National Headquarters of American Youth Hostels, it was announced by Ben W. Miller, director of the association.

In addition, hundreds of other trips, many of which will cost as little as $125 a day are planned by AYH Local Chapters throughout the United States.

Trips sponsored by the AYH National Headquarters will range in length from five to 10 weeks and will start in late June and early July. On these trips, hostellers will travel in small mixed groups with trained leaders.

77 Make Perfect Standings

By Bob Fain

Seventy-seven students made 3.0 standings for the fall semester, it has been announced by deans of six colleges. This number is three below the total of 80 who made perfect standings for the last spring semester.

Students making perfect standings are:

College of Arts and Sciences: Janet A. Anderson, Mary J. Bishop, James T. Bradbury, Elizabeth R. Bryant, Stuart G. Carpenter, David L. Carter, Jim Cherry, Henrietta Cohn, Mrs. Edna H. Edwards, John B. Flege, William T. Garrad, Gene R. Hagan, Virginia S. Hanley, Dorothy A. Harrod, Mildred L. Hart, Bettye J. Kelly, Elmer E. McDaniel Jr., Bettye L. Mastin, Fred H. Payne, Martha L. Pennebaker, Ann Perrine, Martha N. Pollard, Robert G. Smith, Kenneth Wells, Robert H. Whisman, and David M. Woodhead.

College of Education: Margery A. Cauter, Burtis Franklin, Josephine R. Jones, Cecil F. McGee, Betty J. Mayse, Mary A. Mosby, Geraldine Northcutt, Suzanne Rogers, John Scanlon, Robert B. The College of Pharmacy has not announced its students who made perfect standings.

June Graduates Should File For Degrees

Seniors who entered the University at the beginning of this semester and who expect to complete their requirements for graduation in June or August, and who have not at a previous time made application for degrees, are requested to do so on Friday or Saturday, March 3-4. This applies also to graduate students who expect to complete their requirements for graduate degrees. All applications should be filed in room 16 of the Administration Building.

As the Commencement lists are made from these cards, it is very important to file application at this time.

Candidates for the bachelor's degree will be charged a graduation fee of $9. This will cover the rental of cap and gown, diploma fee, the Kentuckian, and other necessary expenses. Candidates for advanced degrees, other than the doctorate, will be charged a fee of $20, which will cover the above with the exception of the Kentuckian. In addition, the cost of the hood to be presented the candidate. The fee for the doctorate is $25. Graduation fees are payable not later than the fourth day preceding the commencement.

Comptroller Conducts One-Day Paint Clinic

A one-day paint clinic, designed to assist Kentucky Colleges and Universities in giving better protection to their property through the use of paints, enamels, varnishes, and lacquers, was held recently at the University under the auspices of Frank D. Peterson, comptroller.

Approximately 30 paint foremen and business office employees from Kentucky schools attended the meeting.

Speakers On Humanity Subjects Declare That We Must Concentrate On Our Arts, Discontinue Devotion To Foreign Works

By Betty Compton

"We shall not be taken seriously in the cultural field until we take ourselves seriously," stated Dr. Howard Hanson, one of the nation's foremost music educators, at the Fine Arts Building Tuesday night. Dr. Hanson, director of the Eastman School of Music at Rochester, N. Y., continued by criticizing American importation of the cultural arts. "A nation which reaches out for foreign art because it is supposed to be better will never see its own soul," declared the dark-robed doctor.

Dr. Edwin E. Stein, head of the UK music department, when introducing the speaker described him as possessing all the qualities needed in a national leader of music.

One Leadership Problem

The enthusiastic speaker added, "But one of the problems of leadership in these times is that someone might take your advice and follow you."

Dr. Hanson stated that a study of the humanities teaches a sensitivity to nature.

The first Founders Week speaker furthered his statement by proclaiming that music calls for "an enthusiastic and devoted teaching," each creative art must be approached "in its own intrinsic quality," and participation in the arts "must be accompanied by creation."

Dr. Hanson continued by saying that the arts have little to offer unless approached "in a spirit of sincerity" and the creative arts must all return for their inspiration to the "grass roots."

Known For "Merry Mount"

Dr. Hanson stated, "I believe man is turning today's philosophy and religion and to the creative arts for the solace, comfort, and inspiration which they can bring to him."

A composer in his own right, Dr. Hanson is primarily noted for his symphonies and for the well-known opera "Merry Mount." This opera carries out Dr. Hanson's interest in American culture in that it is written in English and has an American theme.

"Be As a Lion," a composition of Dr. Hanson's, was sung by the University Chorists at the Founders Day Convocation Wednesday morning.

The distinguished educator has several works for both chorus and orchestra to his credit. Several are "Lament for Beowulf" and "Drum Taps." Dr. Hanson has composed works for every instrument, and has specialized in compositions for choir, organ, and piano.

By W. J. Boughey

Warning that "if you kill the theater, you dry up the sources from which, and from which alone, can come significant artists," Walter Prichard Eaton, noted dramatist, drama critic, and teacher, emphasized the necessity of the "living theater" in developing dramatists.

Eaton, former New York Sun drama critic and professor emeritus of playwriting at Yale University, now a visiting lecturer at the University of North Carolina, marked the mid-point in Founders Week activities Wednesday night when he discussed in the Guignol Theater "The Place of Drama in Our Society."

Citing the supremacy of stage drama over the movies, radio, and television, Eaton said, "They are incapable of stopping enduring works of art which can be printed, read, studied, revived, or otherwise take their place in the root system of our culture."

After tracing the development of the stage all the way from the ancient stopping along the way to point out certain trends, he discussed current college drama.

"As the professional theater shrinks and seems almost to perish, the college theater is picking up the torch. When I think of that I am afraid I don't care very much whether it is educational or not. I just want to cheer," he said.

Eaton mentioned a significant change around 1880 when drama tended to study individuals, not in relation to their own moods, but in relation to society. "The hero of the new realistic drama did not fall because of a fatal flaw in himself, but a fatal flaw in society," he commented.

Getting directly to the title of his lecture he added, "Each age must find its own expression; its art is to be vital. It must breed artists, not writers, especially its young writers, with a creative urge."

After the lecture, which was broadcast over WBKX and WKIX, an informal reception was held in the music room of the Fine Arts Building.

Berea Head Visits Campus

Dr. Raymond Drukker, executive assistant to the president of Berea College, spoke to a general assembly of students and faculty of the College of Engineering at 10 o'clock yesterday in Memorial Hall.

Memorial Hall To Be Scene Of Women's Job Conference

The Vocational Information Conference which is sponsored by the Office of the Dean of Women and the House President's Council will be held on campus March 14-16. The Conference is primarily for the benefit of freshman and sophomore women students.

The conference, which was formerly held in conjunction with the job conference, was a separate event last year and will be repeated this year to aid the students in their choice of a career and to give them the latest authoritative information in vocational fields.

Opens March 14

A convocation on March 14 in Memorial Hall will open the conference. Mr. Virgil L. Couch, personnel director of the Economic Cooperation Administration, Washington, D. C., will speak on how to "Select a Vocation Now."

Discussions of vocations in 17 departments will be conducted on campus in the afternoons from 4 to 6 o'clock on March 15 to 16. Heads of departments and professors will lead these discussions. The meetings have been scheduled in the departments so that students will have better opportunities to see the vocational displays. There will be tours conducted through the departments.

Conference Theme

"Keys to Vocational Opportunities" will be the theme of the conference. The main purpose will be to inform the students of the training possibilities at the University in the fields which will be represented in the conference.

The fields to be discussed will be elementary education, medical technology, music, home economics, journalism, physical education, public health nursing, social work and related fields of religious education, education, physical therapy, secondary education, personnel, public health, speech therapy, library science, art, and secretarial work.

'51 Series Planned In Coliseum

UK students will be admitted to next year's Central Kentucky Community Concert and Lecture series on presentation of their student activity books, it was announced this week.

The series will present seven concerts and four lectures at Memorial Coliseum by famous personalities and groups, including James Melton, leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera; the London Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted by Sir Thomas Beecham; the Don Cossack Chorus; Jascha Heifetz, violinist; Elena Nikolaidi, Greek contralto; Arthur Rubenstein, pianist; the Dallas Symphony Orchestra with Walter Hendel conducting and William Kapell as piano soloist; Charles Laughton, radio, screen and stage actor, and Eleanor Roosevelt, U. S. delegate to the United Nations.

Rounding out the program will be three - Elmer Davis, commentator and political analyst; Edward Weeks, editor of the Atlantic Monthly, and Dr. Ralph Sockman, minister.

Admission for those, other than UK students, will be by season memberships only. Prices for season memberships are: $12.00; full-time students of other colleges, high schools or elementary schools and children under school age (if accompanied by adult) $4.20, tax included. It was emphasized that no single tickets will be sold at any time.

The University is co-operating with the Central Kentucky Community Concert Association and the Lexington Public Forum in presenting the series.

Memberships may be obtained from Mrs. I. D. Best, 293 S. Ashland Avenue, general chairman of the membership campaign.

Highway Meet Date Set For March 2-3

The Kentucky Highway Conference will be held at the University on March 2-3. It is being sponsored by the College of Engineering and the Kentucky Department of Highways.

The purpose of the conference is to bring together state, county, and city engineers and officials, and highway contractors to hear discussions on design, construction, and maintenance of roads and streets.

Registration will be held at 8:30 a.m. in Memorial Hall. The welcoming address will be given at 10 a.m. by D. V. Terrell, dean of the College of Engineering, and H. L. Donovan, president of the University. Emerson Beauchamp, commissioner of rural highways, will discuss the "Rural Highway Program."

Presiding at the various discussions will be Judge S. R. Cheek, Boyle County; W. O. Snyder, executive secretary Kentucky Association of Highway Contractors; D. H. Bray, state highway engineer; S. A. Mory Jr., professor of structural engineering, UK; and R. E. Shaver, head of the Department of Civil Engineering.

Kyian Sales Deadline

Deadline for the 1950 Kentucky sales is Tuesday, Jeanne Wilson, business manager, has announced.

The office, located in Room 55 of McVey Hall, will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday and Tuesday. Seniors are not required to sign up for the Kentucky. Their payment, which is included in their graduation fee, is sent to the Kentucky by the registrar's office.

Seniors are requested to pick up the Kentucky when they are distributed in May, however.

Group To Hold Meeting Here

The largest inter-collegiate speech event ever to be held will convene at UK for three days beginning Thursday, March 9. The convention will be made of members and pledges of Tau Kappa Alpha national forensic honorary.

Students and faculty of 45 colleges and universities have been invited to come. According to Dr. Gifford Blyton, director of TKA at UK, 225 students and faculty from 25 states are expected.

The newly formed TKA chapter on UK campus will act as host to the convention for the first time.

The convention will feature discussion, debate and extemporaneous tournaments. Following this committee groups will meet and a student congress will convene.

Dr. Elvis Stahr, dean of the College of Law at UK, and a member of TKA, will act as presiding officer at the student congress.

Robert J. Blakely of the St. Louis Star-Times and Eldon S. Dummit, Kentucky gubernatorial candidate, will speak during the course of several banquets.

UK is entering students in all of the convention's activities.

President Herman L. Donovan discusses the FOUNDERS WEEK program with Dr. Raymond McLain, president of Transylvania College, before the convocation in the Fine Arts Building Wednesday morning. Dr. Donovan spoke on "Accent on the Fine Arts" and Dr. McLain, guest speaker, discussed "John Doe, Artist."

Fine Accomplishment

Next year's program sponsored jointly by the University, the Lexington Public Forum and the Central Kentucky Community Concert Association is by far the most ambitious cultural advance made here in many years.

Bringing such famous persons as Jascha Heifetz, Arthur Rubenstein, Charles Laughton, James Melton and Eleanor Roosevelt to the Memorial Coliseum is not its only advantage. The admission prices offered the general public, and especially the students of the University, are almost unbelievable. In addition, the program should serve to prove to skeptics who have frowned upon such a large expenditure as that made on the fieldhouse for athletics that the building will in the future be of great importance in other activities as well.

Besides the important personalities which the group has engaged for next season, three famous musical organizations of large size will also appear. The London Philharmonic orchestra is probably the best-known in the world and is certainly one of the best. The Don Cossack chorus has become famous for its recordings of "Meadowlands" and other songs, and the Dallas Symphony has aroused nation-wide attention because of its unprecedented success.

Any one of the attractions is worth at least $5.00 per seat, and the audience at the last community concert, at which the program was announced, chuckled appreciatively when UK's most popular professor, R. D. McIntyre, said the admission price for each performance would amount to about 66c. But he referred to general admission season tickets at $7.20 each. UK students will be admitted free upon presentation of student activity books or identification cards, the cost of which is covered by registration fees.

Certainly the three organizations which have co-operated so well in preparing this program are to be congratulated and sincerely thanked by every University student.

Time To Quit

More and more students are bringing it to our attention that the furniture and interior woodwork and walls of campus buildings are being defaced with alarming indifference.

Since there is practically no way in which such action can be suppressed, short of actually catching the person in the act of whittling, writing or generally messing up the property, the only way to improve the situation would seem to be an appeal to common sense. The old saw about doing it at home does not apply here, because all the people of the state have an interest in the University, whereas, possibly, indulgent families control our respective homes.

Both students and faculty members are at fault, especially concerning mistreatment of walls. We realize that a long class period often leads the student to some means of preoccupation and the teacher to the restless propping of a foot against the wall. But it would seem that the student could just as well use paper for his doodling and the professor could sit down while delivering his lecture.

Visions Of Greatness

Founders Week, about to come to an end for 1950, has been an impressive and interesting celebration in appreciation of the work of those men who were instrumental in launching and improving the University throughout the years.

It has had very real significance this year, in part because of the visible growth of the University—the new Fine Arts building, the nearly-completed Memorial Coliseum and the Maintenance buildings and the newly-started Journalism building.

Most of the present inhabitants of UK might well wish that some of those men could return and see the results of years of genuine sacrifice and hardship they underwent. But perhaps they wouldn't want to return—theirs was a vision that went far beyond their time. There is ample reason to believe that they expected their school to become what it is today—or even what it will be when it has ripened into a greater University of Kentucky in the future.

LONESOME VALLEY
By Henry Hornsby

The mountains of Kentucky are a lonesome and mysterious region, and the people there are misunderstood by most of the world outside.

But when a man who worked his way out of those mountains and through school writes of scenes of his earlier life and of the kind of people he knew, the mountaineers come to life in all the complexity of their characters.

In Lonesome Valley, Henry Hornsby catches the spirit of the mountain folk in their actions as seen through the eyes of one boy—Johnny—who is driven from the hills by the harsh treatment of the uncle and aunt with whom he lives.

New Hemingway Novel

Ernest Hemingway's new novel, "Across the River and into the Trees," is the story of a fifty-year old U. S. infantry colonel who returns to Venice for a last visit with a young and beautiful Italian girl. They are happy in their intense love, but it is a happiness made poignant by their realization that the war-battered colonel hasn't long to live. Hemingway, in describing their last visit, recounts the events in the soldier's colorful life which made him the brutal, and yet strangely tender man that he is. The novel starts in the February issue of Cosmopolitan magazine and is Hemingway's first work since his famous "For Whom the Bell Tolls," published in 1940.

The reader is continually with Johnny, seeing people through the eyes of a boy who is one of them and thus knows them for what they are. It is a quiet book, moving slowly with Johnny through his first love, through high school and college and finally back to the mountains, where he hopes to find himself again after an unhappy love affair at school.

The suspicious nature of a mountain boy made Johnny believe that Hazel, the sister of his new school teacher, had snubbed him in telling him goodbye. Actually, Hazel had fallen strongly in love with Johnny and was disappointed in a naive sort of way that he had not taken advantage of her when he made love to her, though he was unaware of her feelings.

Johnny, bitter towards people in general, had then gone off to school and worked his way into an instructor's position only to rebel at asking the blessing in the college dining hall as the position required.

His experiences with Edna, the school secretary, served to bring his discontent to a climax and he returned to the mountains to find Hazel teaching at the old school, waiting for him and the fulfillment that had come to them.

But the book doesn't end happily—mountain folk can't be really happy for long. Something about the rugged hills prevents complete enjoyment, and sorrow strikes again as usual. Johnny seems to learn that, though he'll always have Hazel, he may never be happy, and certainly not in the lonesome valley.

This is a first novel by a graduate of the University of Kentucky. Henry Hornsby majored in journalism here, and received his degree in 1938. At the present time, he is acting city editor of the Lexington Leader.—George Reynolds.

One of the central tests of any man is the nature of his pleasures.

LETTERS to the Editor

THE TRIANGLE

Editor, The Kernel:
I love the paper—
I think it's swell!
On Friday mornings
I run pell mell
To get my copy—
And read every line.
The stories and columns
I think are fine.
I laugh at the jokes,
I read the ads,
I note all the news,
I join all the fads.
When I praise the paper
I scorn those who laugh.
I'm really most loyal—
Sincerely, THE STAFF.

Each week the editorial board of The Kentucky Kernel chooses the most interesting "Letter to the Editor" which is run in that issue. To the winner goes a carton of Chesterfields, presented by the campus representatives, Tom Diskin and Bob Pearce.
Last week, however, only one letter was used and this was not signed. To be eligible for the prize, there must be at least two letters used and the author must sign his or her name. Should the writer not want his name published, please state so in the letter and it will be compiled with.

The Hitching Post

"Whew, finally the crescendo! Rush week ends tomorrow for the girls. If it weren't for rush, going to the grill, attending meetings, and doing a little studying on the side—college would be sure, that's for dang sure, be dead. I have a sneaky feeling J. C. that you aren't really interested in sorority rush since fraternity rush week ended last Friday."

"Ah, my little Kitten, I'm just sitting here thinking about the thick creamy crop of rushees that got pledged last week. There was an even distribution all around even if only 34% made their standings. A fine bunch of boys and when the real work comes we expect great things. We'll show 'em that this second semester pledging won't get us down."

"There's just one thing and one thing only — must you always let the barber shave your head while he shaves your face. The fad seems to have taken over lately. What are you trying to do J. C.? The girls started this short haircut, and nothing can cut out the way we cut it. Even a crew cut looks staid beside a single."

"This never entered my head. Let's have a Sam Spade ending and discuss capers of pinnings, engagements, and marriages."

The annual Founders Day was celebrated at UK on Feb. 22 with a convocation at Memorial Hall. Gov. Simeon Willis was the principal speaker.

Thirty-five hundred fans packed Alumni Gym to see Kentucky play Tennessee in the "basketball game of the year."

Mona Paulce, Metropolitan Opera mezzo-soprano, presented a program at Memorial Hall.

YMCA delegates from Kentucky colleges visited the UK campus for two days.

10 years ago

An annual concert by the Men's Glee Club was presented at a Sunday afternoon music.

A community chest drive on the campus passed the $300 goal.

Porter's Poll

Majority Would Abolish Delayed Pledging Setup

Question of the week: WHAT DO YOU THINK OF DELAYED FRATERNITY PLEDGING?

BOBBY SHORT: "I don't know how the other system works, but this way it gives the rushees a chance to look over the fraternities."

BAIN FOSTER: "It is too expensive. Everyone gets disgusted with so much rushing."

WOODY YANKEE: "It's a good thing. It gives rushees a chance to see what they are doing."

MATT DOWNER: "At the present time it's hurting, but it may be just the thing later on."

SKEETER HALL: "I don't approve because there is too much confusion trying to get to know rushes during registration."

ELKINS PAYNE: "Definitely against it. The freshmen didn't have a chance to make their standings because they were rushed too hard all semester."

CHARLIE DISHMAN: "I'm not in favor of it. I hear that only 15 per cent of the freshmen made their standings, and I think delayed rushing caused the major part of it."

BILL KNIGHT: "Down with it—too low grades—too, too much partying."

JACK CASH: "It's ideal. Every fraternity has the same chance this way."

BOB VITTITOW: "Pretty good set-up. Puts all groups on same level so some can't jump the gun."

DAN MULLIN: "It's not here to stay."

RODNEY BECK: "Principle is all right, but it isn't being carried out. It hasn't succeeded because so many freshmen didn't make their grades."

BOB RATCLIFF: "The fraternities may suffer in the long run."

BILL MCCANN: "I don't like it because, one, there is too much fraternity expense, second, there is so much work to it that you can't enjoy it, and third, the freshmen are making no better standings than before."

JOHN PEDIGO: "It has hurt the fraternities because the activities have done away with their own studies to rush the freshmen. It has hurt the freshmen boys because they have been continually rushed all semester. They would have been better off pledged the first of the year and then they could have studied under fraternity supervision. Consequently both the fraternities and the freshmen are suffering."

GENE LEGETTE: "I guess it's OK this way, but I think fall rushing would have been better."

BOB DOYLE: "I don't like it. I think sororities and fraternities should have the same right as far as pledging goes."

J. C. POWELL: "The system is failing to achieve its goals because it does not make provision for delayed rushing."

GENE PHILLIPS: "It smells. It puts a strain on the fraternities the whole semester."

KENNY HITE: "I like it because you know what you're getting into. You get to know the fraternity boys better."

Tomorrow Is Bid Day

Bid Day is tomorrow! All girls desiring membership must sign preference cards and receive bids in Dean Haselden's office between 10-12 a.m. Saturday.

Faculty Personals

Col. MacKenzie

Col. G. T. MacKenzie, head of the Department of Military Science, left the Good Samaritan hospital this week after having been confined with pneumonia. He was admitted to the hospital on Feb. 15.

Col. MacKenzie will spend a 30-day convalescent leave at his home in Charlottesville, Va.

Jewell Hall Elects

Rosemary Haley, arts and sciences junior, has been elected president of Jewell Hall.

Other officers are Margaret Wilson, vice president; Anna Lee Scaif, secretary; Jewell Deene Ellis, treasurer; and Elaine Shafer, social chairman.

Engineers Plan Party

The engineering college staff and their wives will attend a St. Patrick's party on Friday, March 3rd at 7:30 p.m. in the study hall of Anderson Hall.

Refreshments will be served. Mrs. E. A. Bureau, wife of the head of the electrical engineering department, is in charge of the program committee.

SUB To Be Scene Of Billiard Exhibition

Charles C. Peterson, billiard king and fancy shot champion, will present a billiard exhibition in the game room of the SUB on Wednesday, at 10-12 a.m. 2-4 p.m., and 6-8:30 p.m.

Peterson will challenge his audience to "Show Me A Shot I Can't Make," and will demonstrate a great number of billiard tricks.

He will work with the intercollegiate billiard team which is being selected this week in the Student Union billiard tourney.

ADPi Elects New Officers

Rachel Johnson, junior in Home Economics, has been elected president of Alpha Delta Pi sorority. Rachel is vice-president of the 4-H club and was recently named as one of two students who will visit Europe this summer for the state's 4-H clubs.

Other officers are: Anne Woods, vice-president; Jean Craft and Frankie Jones, secretaries; Claire Hicks, treasurer; Sara Lynn Boone, assistant treasurer; Sue Dossett, membership selection chairman; Nina Liston, assistant; Jean Pumphrey, house president; Evelyn

Hamilton House Girls To Hold Annual Tea

Dr. W. R. Allen, curator of the Zoology museum, points out several points of interest in one of the museum's several cases to two graduate students. The museum, although not yet complete, is open to the general public. It is located in room 10 of the Funkhouser Biological Sciences building.

Variety Of Species Shown In New Zoology Museum

The first unit of the Department of Zoology's teaching museum which opened recently shows specimens taken from many branches of zoological science.

The Museum of Zoology is located in Room 10 of the Funkhouser Biological Sciences Building.

Notable in the collection now shown is the skeleton of the famous race horse and sire, Hanover. Skeletons of a gorilla and of the rare duckbill of Australia are also among the most valuable of the mammal collections specimens.

A representative set of mounted birds is also included in the collection. Some of these birds were prepared for the department, some were gifts, and some have been in the department since the 1890's, when they were received on exchange with the Smithsonian Institute for certain archaeological study materials from Kentucky.

The museum, which was planned in 1938 when the first designs for the Biological Sciences Building were drawn, is a single large room on the ground floor.

Although the building was completed in 1941 with the assistance of federal funds under the Public Works Administration, the funds were stopped before the museum could be completed. The room was left without furnishings and was used during the war for drafting classes in the Army Specialized Training Program.

The first unit, of the construction was authorized by the University two years ago, consists of a set of wall cases on three sides of the room, with plate glass openings six feet high.

Two other units, a series of glass and concrete aquarium and vivarium tanks in which living specimens will be kept and a series of six floor cases for special exhibit, are planned in addition to this unit.

Washburn Presented Watch By Old Timers

Harry Washburn, senior mining engineering student and president of Tau Beta Pi, engineering honorary society, was presented yesterday with an engraved gold watch by the Old Timers Club. The Club is a non-profit organization of prominent men in the coal industry.

This is the second annual award to the senior mining engineering student of UK who is believed to have the best chance of succeeding in the coal industry.

The watch was presented by Sam Cassidy, Jenkins, Ky., businessman and a representative of the Old Timers Club.

Alpha Xi Initiates, Names New Officers

Alpha Xi Delta sorority has recently elected new officers for the coming year and initiated 14 girls.

Mary Ann McQuaid is the new president. Other officers elected were Annette Siler, vice president; Caroline Freeman, recording secretary; Barbara Graham, corresponding secretary; Doris Richards, pledge mistress; Charlotte Watson and Frances Henslee, co-rush chairmen; Dot Allen, journal correspondent; Bert McKenna, historian; and Dorothy Schmidt, chaplain.

The new initiates are Louise Allen, Joan Babbitt, Beth Deen, Mary Meade, Martha Milburn, Wilma Milion, Linda Patterson, Sue Peak, Mary Jayne Pinson, Elsie Quigley, Marilyn Steele, Suzanne Swayze, Marge Swint, and Bobbie Dean Yates.

and replace them with objects of real artistic value.

For the Department of Music, Dr. Donovan went on, there is the challenge of teaching Kentuckians a finer appreciation of the world's great music, and for the dramatics division of the English department the challenge of stimulating and guiding the production of more and better drama, particularly in the state's high schools.

Music was provided by the University Choristers and Madrigal Singers and a string quintet of music faculty members. Invocation and benediction was given by Elliot Jones, president of the YMCA.

Recommended By Dr. McVey
Begun in 1947, the huge $1,500,000 structure was completed several weeks ago but the dedication was delayed until Founders Day. The Fine Arts Department was begun on the campus in May, 1918 at the recommendation of Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of the University at that time.

President Donovan introduced the members of the program committee and complimented them on the success of their work. They are Dr. Herman E. Briggs, chairman; Wallace E. Briggs, Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, E. B. Farris, Ezra L. Gillis, Helen King, Edward W. Rannels, Edwin E. Stein, Elmer G. Sulzer, Lawrence S. Thompson, and R. W. Wild.

THEN and NOW

Personalities

1927
W. Arch Bennett, formerly of Frankfort, has accepted the position of business manager at Western Kentucky State College and has already assumed his duties there.

1940
David K. Blythe, assistant professor of civil engineering at the University, is on leave of absence this year attending Cornell University. He hopes to obtain his master's degree from that institution in June. He is majoring in highway engineering and minoring in photogrammetry.

Prof. Blythe entered Cornell on the McGrew Fellowship in Civil Engineering and taught one course there during the fall semester. He is president of the Cornell student chapter of the Institute of Traffic Engineers and a member of the Ithaca section of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

With Former Students
Mrs. E. Bruce Blythe (Louise Boden) of Louisville, who attended the University in 1924, was on the campus this week visiting her social sorority, Kappa Delta. Mrs. Blythe is province president of the sorority with chapters in Kentucky and Tennessee under her jurisdiction.

With Former Students
Lt. Joseph B. Edwards, former University student from Central City, is adjutant of the 624th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron of the 20th Air Force.

Lt. Edwards served a short time in the Navy during World War II, and upon his discharge entered the University where he completed two years in the ROTC and obtained a commission as a second lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force.

With Former Students
Howard C. Bowles, formerly of Ashland, is serving as director of member relations for the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce. Prior to that appointment he was district sales manager for Birch Distributors, Inc., of Ashland and before that was in charge of sales and advertising for the Sandy Valley Grocery Company.

Jack Tingle, former Kentucky Wildcat basketball star, is making a name for himself as coach of the Hiseville High School basketball team.

Jack was all-Southeastern four straight years at Kentucky, and earned all-American honors for two years.

With Former Students
Dr. A. L. Roby, former University student who obtained his medical degree at the University of Louisville, has joined the Middlesboro Clinic for infants and children.

Dr. Roby interned at the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Hospital at Clifton Forge, Va., and from there he entered the armed service as regimental surgeon of the 332nd Engineers, serving approximately three years. He did three years postgraduate study at the University of Louisville following the war, specializing in diseases of infancy and childhood.

With Former Students
G. C. Everett, Jr. of Logan, W. Va., has been promoted to division residential sales supervisor of the Appalachian Electric Power Co. He is in charge of coordinating residential sales and promotion in the Huntington division, which includes the Huntington, Logan, and Williamson districts.

A former University student, Mr. Everett is a veteran of World War II.

CONN-COX 'UNS

By Earl Conn and Bob Cox

Ho, hum. Life gets teejus, don't it? No analogy to this little effort though. (Ed: Oh, no?) Enough of this stuff. Let's get down to business with a Valentine's note: The glances that over cocktails seem so sweet May be less charming over shredded wheat.

ADPI: Do you believe in free love?
ATO: Have I ever sent you a bill?

A true music lover is a man who, upon hearing a soprano voice in the bathroom, puts his ear to the keyhole.

Visitor: "Where are all the monkeys?"
Zoo Keeper: "Well, it's the mating season and they are all inside."

Visitor: "Would they come out for peanuts?"
Keeper: "Would you?"

"Does your cigarette taste different lately?" said the dog as he strolled through the tobacco patch.

Sally's back from Hollywood: Back from all its perils.

Her reputation still is good—No runs, no hits, no errors.

We allus did say that most women attain their ends by not taking enough exercise.

ASP: How did you puncture your tire?
SPE: Ran over a milk bottle.

ASP: Didn't you see it?
SPE: Now, the kid had it under his coat.

DX: What shape is a kiss?
KAT: I don't know.

DX: Well, give me one and we'll call it square.

A girl who lost her balance and fell out of a second story window into a garbage can caused the economics professor to remark "How wasteful these modern Americans are! That girl was good for another ten years yet."

SN Pledge: There was a man here a few minutes ago who said he wanted to beat hell out of you.

Big Brother: What did you tell him?
Pledge: I told him I was sorry you weren't in.

"Sorry, miss," said the sentry, "but it's against regulations to swim in this lake."

"Why didn't you tell me before I undressed?" said the Sweet Young Thing, blushing.

"Tain't against regulations to undress, lady," he said sheepishly.

AGD: I'm sorry I didn't invite you to our beach party tomorrow.

DTD: Too late now. I've already prayed for rain.

The diner in a restaurant was a little sheepish as he went up to the cashier and admitted that he could not pay for his meal.

"Oh, that's all right," said the cashier friendly. "You can pay it next time you are in. But to make sure, just write your name over there on the wall."

The customer complained, "I don't want to do that. Why everyone entering here will see my name."

"No they won't," replied the cashier. "Your topcoat will be hanging over it."

Science is wonderful. No one could open the Pullman windows so they air-conditioned the cars.

Our prediction of the week: Now that the Air Corps has announced another plane that travels faster than sound, scientists probably will go to work on a sound that travels faster than a plane.

The perfect news story occurred the other day, 'tis said, at a stock show when a bull threw a congressman.

"I'm losing my punch," exclaimed the coed as she hastily left the cocktail party.

Jack and Jill fell down the hill. (A stunt that's mighty risky.) If water made them act like that, I think I'll stick to whiskey.

Women's Club Hears Pardue

Dean Lewis A. Pardue of the graduate school will lead a discussion on "Atomic Energy, its Scientific and Social Implications" at a meeting of the International Relations department of UK's Women's Club Monday, at 7:30 p.m.

Prof. Herbert R. Riley, head of the Department of Botany, and Lyle R. Dawson, head of the Department of Chemistry, will aid Dean Pardue in the discussion.

This is the first in a series of discussions sponsored by the Women's Club. All faculty members, students and towns-people are invited.

Mrs. Janis Sternbergs and Mr. Karlis Ilens, displaced persons attending the University, will lecture on "From Behind the Iron Curtain" on March 6.

"Rescuing Looted Books" will be Prof. Leslie I. Post's topic for March 13. Prof. Post spent two post-war years in Germany in library work.

All of these meetings will be held in the lecture room of Lafferty Hall.

Girls who look good enough to eat usually do.

Any girl can get a fellow to kiss her if she uses a little come-on sense.

Father: Why do you go with that girl?
Son: Because I want to.

Father: (suspiciously) Want to what?

BILL SPIVEY, above, broke the SEC scoring record with 40 points against Georgia Tech here last Saturday night. Assisted by the superb co-operation of his teammates, particularly Forward Walt Hirsch, "Grits" surpassed Alex Groza's mark of 38 made against U. of Georgia one year ago. Spivey and Kansas' 6-9 center, Clyde Lovellette, who recently scored 39 against Missouri, are considered two of the top sophomore pivotmen in the nation.

Bill Spivey, UK center, was the only sophomore selected by the Associated Press on its annual All-Conference basketball selections. No other second-year man was even placed on the second or third teams.

Husky Jim Line, Cat forward, was also named along with "Grits" Spivey on the All-SEC first five, while the underrated Walt Hirsch was placed on the all-junior second team.

For the first time in many years, none of the 15 selected were natives of Kentucky. Indiana was high with one player from each of the three quintets.

Fencers Trim Vandy; Lose To Illinois

Paced by co-captain Alan Solomon and Bob O'Nan, converted epee fencer, the University fencers beat Vanderbilt here last Saturday, 10-6.

Bob O'Nan, who only two weeks ago fenced in the epee bouts against Illinois, was converted to foil and came through in noble style. He won all three of his starts and promises to be a mainstay on the Kentucky foil team.

Alan Solomon continued on his winning ways adding four more victories to the three he registered against Illinois. Co-captain Solomon has yet to lose his first bout.

Sid Neal added two victories while dropping two and Doug Brown added one win while losing three.

Tomorrow, the University of Kentucky fencing team travels to Louisville to meet the University of Louisville and Notre Dame in a tri-meet. The action is due to start at 7:30 and all weapons, foil, epee, and sabre, will be fenced.

UK 9, Illinois 18

Working on a six-meet winning streak that was started in February, 1949, the University fencers played host to Illinois, Feb. 9, at the UK Gym. Illinois, last year's runner-up in the Big Ten, tamed the Cats to the tune of 18-9. For Kentucky, whose only loss last year was to this same Illinois team, Thursday evening was an improvement over last year's score of 22-5.

The meet consisted of 27 bouts. Nine in each of the three fencing weapons, foil, epee, and sabre. Co-captains Alan Solomon and George Christen won all of their bouts. Solomon winning all three in foil and Christen winning his three in sabre. Charles Mitchell and Jim Ryan added a win each for the Kentucky team while dropping two a piece in epee. Dick Wohlstein added one win in sabre while dropping two.

Bob O'Nan turned in a creditable job in epee, but failed to post a win. This was his first bout in college competition and much is expected of him later.

Holway Joins UK Grid Staff

Dick Holway, alternate captain and offensive left guard on the 1949 Kentucky football team, was named last Friday as an assistant coach on the UK staff for the 1950 season.

The Youngstown, Ohio, senior, who completed his varsity eligibility following the Wildcats' New Year's engagement in the Orange Bowl, replaces Asst. Coach Joe Atkinson, who resigned last week to accept a coaching position with his hometown high school in Lebanon, Tenn.

Asst. Coach Ernie Allen will take over Atkinson's duties of training the yearling Wildcat gridgers. Holway is a graduate of Ursuline High in Youngstown. Although he played only one year of football in high school, he made the All-City team and later proved an outstanding

Tourney Ticket Information

The Southeastern Conference Basketball Tournament will be held in the Louisville Armory this year on March 2, 3, 4.

There is no limit on the number of tickets a student or fan may purchase.

Freshmen Play Home Game Saturday Against Strong Foe

By Bob Gorham

The Freshmen Kittens take on one of their strongest foes of the season when they tangle with the Lawrence Capehart American Legion team of Jeffersonville, Ind., tomorrow night in Alumni gym. Game time is 6 p.m.

The Indiana team is composed of members of the Jeffersonville High School squad and their coach, Ed Denton, who were declared ineligible at the beginning of the current season.

They have been playing as an independent quintet, and have compiled the enviable record of 27 wins against only two set-backs.

Those who have seen them play tab this 12-man organization as the team that would have taken the Indiana high school halo hands down had they been allowed to participate.

Jeffersonville is paced by their 6'6" center, Harry "Butch" Hinton, and 6'4" Chet Beam, a forward. An added member of the team is Dick Scott, who performed for the undefeated Kentucky freshman team of last year.

Kentucky Coach Harry Lancaster is expected to start 9'5" Lou Tsioropoulos, U-High, had 106 tallies in 13 games. Other top scorers were Liddle Castle 82 (11); and Ches Riddle 63 (13).

Hagan, who meshed 28 points. Behind him came Frank Ramsey with 17, and Lou Tsioropoulos and Ches Riddle with 10 each.

Ramsey and Riddle, whose homes are in Madisonville, served as co-captains for the game.

The line-ups:

Kentucky (96) (58) Vanderbilt
Tsioropoulos (4) F (2) Herring
Ramsey (26) F (9) Falls
Hagan (37) C (11) Rae
Pikrone (12) G (4) Cook
Castle (5) G (23) White

Subs: Ky.—Price (4), Fry, Riddle (4), Vanderbilt—Klein (2), Holder (4), Clerk (3).

Halftime score: Ky. 45, Vanderbilt 25.

Kentucky (82) (60) Campbellsville
Ramsey (17) F (12) Meyers
Tsioropoulos (10) F (10) Morrison
Hagan (28) C (4) Green
Riddle (10) G (8) Best
Castle (6) G Wise

Subs: Ky.—Price (4), Fry, Pikrone (7), Campbellsville—C. Brown (4), J. Brown (3), Hansford, Gilvin (7), Jones (2), Shaw, Tupscott (2), Wright (8).

On Monday night at Madisonville, they trapped the Tigers of Campbellsville for the second time this season. The score was 62-60.

Leading the scoring again was ing lineman at Kentucky. Holway was on the U. K. freshmen team in 1946 and earned varsity letters in 1947-48-49.

WAA News

By Anne Boyd

One of the biggest things that has happened in the State of Kentucky, concerning the Women's Athletic Association of the colleges and universities, occurred last Friday and Saturday, Feb. 16 and 17, on the UK campus. A State division of the National Athletic Federation of College Women was organized.

The purpose of the AFCW is "to further the athletic and other recreational interests and activities of the women students in the universities of Kentucky." This organization was sponsored by the WAA.

There were approximately 38 women present at the meeting; colleges represented were University of Louisville; Morehead College; Centre College; Kentucky Wesleyan College; Berea College; Transylvania; Georgetown College and University of Kentucky. The State president elected was Dot Honaker, from UK.

Kentucky division of the AFCW is planning on concentrating on two long-range plans: co-recreation and aid to high schools. Berea College will be the sight for the next meeting, May 14-15.

University of Cincinnati WAA varsity team played UK WAA team exchange basketball games Thursday, Feb. 15, and Tuesday, Feb. 21. There were two contests at UK last Thursday, Cincinnati winning both games 48-20 and 24-23.

Two things every college man should know!

1. This is a Father. The kin you love to touch. Crusty old character. Wants you to be college-bred, but knows it's a four-year loaf with his dough. Spends time wondering how you'll turn out and when you'll turn in.

2. This is the "Manhattan" Burt. A doll-up, button-down with the soft roll that's the college man's staple diet. White and solid colors—all Size-Fit (average fabric residual shrinkage 1% or less).

Kentucky Five Loaded With Sophomore Stars

By Tom Diskin, Sports Editor

Of the 15 players on the Kentucky Wildcats basketball roster, 10 of them are sophomores. These second-year sharpshooters have performed very well for the Blue and White this season. Because of the ten talented sophomores, enemy coaches are somewhat worried that Coach Adolph Rupp is coming up with another super team that might match the "Fabulous Five".

With the Southeastern Conference getting underway next Thursday night, the Baron must select 12 players from the 15-man roster. The SEC has a ruling allowing only a dozen cagers to be carried on each team during the post-season tourney. There is a possibility that nine of the 12 chosen might be second-year men—making up 75 percent of the tournament squad.

The ten sophomores are Center Bill Spivey, Center-Forward Shelby Linville, Center-Forward Walt Whitaker, Forward Read Morgan, Forward C. M. Newton, Forward Bud King, and Guards Guy Strong, Skippy Whitaker, Whitey Pearson and Bobby Watson.

The five others who complete the UK roster are Seniors Dale Barnstable and Jim Line, and Juniors Walt Hirsch, Spec Townes and Roger Layne.

Spivey Topping Mikan Mark

A brief thumbnail sketch of each sophomore follows:
BILL SPIVEY: is a physical education major. He was born in Lakeland, Fla., played his final three high school years at Warner Robins, Ga., but now lives in Macon, Ga. Big Bill is well-liked by his teammates for his even temperament, affability and sense of humor. At the present time he is averaging more points per game than George Mikan did in his sophomore year at DePaul. Going into last night's tilt with Xavier, Spivey had a 19.1 average; while Mikan averaged 18.6 in his sophomore year.

LEN (WHITEY) PEARSON: has definite possibilities of winning a first-string guard position by tournament time or by next season. Whitey, also a phys. ed. major, comes from Chicago Senn High, where he captained the team his final three seasons there. He is a great competitor and has the drive and natural ability to become a brilliant player before he leaves Kentucky. The 180-pound Swede made All-Chicago area in his junior and senior years at Senn High.

SHELBY LINVILLE: another basketball player who loves to play the game and really knows how. He was one of the finest high school players developed in Ohio in recent years. Shelby paced Middletown High to two Ohio championships. Coach Rupp is high on him, for he can play equally well at center, forward and if necessary at guard. Linville is a transfer from Miami U. of Ohio. He almost enrolled at Western, but fortunately came to UK. He should be a great help in the coming SEC tournament and any subsequent meets.

SKIPPY WHITAKER: is considered one of the best high school cage prospects ever to come out of Florida. "Skip", whose full name is Lucian Cary Whitaker Jr., was born in Quantico, Va., but attended high school at Sarasota. He starred there in basketball, football, baseball and track. Whitaker, a Commerce major, like Pearson has plenty of hustle and drive and might well develop into one of the top guards in the nation next season. He was named on the All-Sugar Bowl five last December along with Spivey and Line.

BOBBY WATSON: plays a steady, reliable game. Robert Earl impressed the New York sportswriters very much in the St. John's game when he sank six field goals in 10 shots. Watson was a standout in football (played center) and in basketball at Owensboro Senior High. He made the All-State quintet in his senior year. Bobby is one of the best set shot artists on the team. He and Spivey have started more games this season than any other sophomore. Watson, a 5-10 guard, is well-liked by all.

Strong Hitting 50 Percent
GUY STRONG: can knock the bottom out of the basket as well as anyone. The quiet, likeable guard from Irvine, Ky., hit 25 goals in exactly 50 attempts going into the Xavier game last night for a 50.0 average—the best on the Wildcat squad. The six-foot, 165-pound blond, also a phys. ed. major here, made 40 percent of his field goal attempts last season on the unbeaten freshmen quintet as well as 72 percent of his free throws. Against St. John's in Madison Square Garden last December, Guy Rowland Strong flipped in seven buckets in 13 shots which kept the Cats in the game. He should be great next year with a little more experience.

READ MORGAN: hasn't seen too much action so far this semester, but is likely to break loose one of these games with a rash of points. He is considered a great offensive player but not too sharp on defense. However, with a few more games under his belt, the 6-4, 190 pounder from Milwaukee is certain to improve in this department. And when he does, he'll be mighty hard to stop. Read, a transfer from the University of Wisconsin, will certainly be an ace in the hole during the tough grind ahead, with tournament time approaching.

CHARLES MARTIN NEWTON: better known as "C.M." He is another fine prospect from Florida.

Intramural Sports

By Lewis Donohew

Whenever possible, the Kernel sports pages will run rosters of the various intramural basketball teams.

Since there are over 50 teams we are asking the coaches to mail in their roster, listing the full name of the players, their height and years of eligibility. We'll try to run them in the order received.

The roster for the K-Club team includes: Bill Leskovar, Doug Mosley, Nick Odilvak, Uis Saylor, Humsey Yessin, Shorty Jamerson, Frank Clegg, Jerry Claiborne, Al Bruno and Bill Baller. This squad should definitely be one of the strongest teams in competition this winter.

Breck Hall, certain also to be a potent outfit, lists: Dave Reed, Bill "Whitey" Zoellers, Charlie Warner, Molly Hill, Fred Pittard, Joe Great-house, Gene Auen, and Jerry Conyer. Most of these players were in last year's IM championship team.

The results of the first week's competition follows:

February 16 Results
DIVISION I—FRATERNITIES
KS 27-PKT 23; PSK 15-SN 13; Triangles 27-TK 20.
DIVISION II—FRATERNITIES

every one of their key players back from the 1948-49 campaign, including 6-4 Paul Unruh, outstanding center, and 5-9 Gene "Squeaky" Melchiorre, speedy guard.

This Tuesday the Associated Press came out with its weekly poll, taken throughout the nation, and Bradley had replaced Holy Cross as the USA's top quintet. Holy Cross had been in the first position for well over a month.

Voting listed Bradley with 1,269 points; Holy Cross with 1,134. Some of the cagers that Coach Anderson's Braves have scalped this season include Ohio State (65-46); St. Louis twice; DePaul twice; Oklahoma A & M (59-46) and Tulane (78-46). One of the three losses has been to our Wildcats, in the Sugar Bowl finals, by 66-71.

Kentucky is in the No. 5 slot, with 857 points, and only 14 points behind the fourth-placed Duquesne quintet from Pittsburgh.

In third place is Ohio State, with 1,061 points.

Here is the voting and the season records for the top ten:

1. Bradley	24-3
2. Holy Cross	22-0
3. Ohio State	18-3
4. Duquesne	21-1

Cats No. 5 In AP Poll

At the beginning of the current basketball season, Coach Adolph Rupp was asked who he thought would be the No. 1 team in the nation. After a little thought, the Baron picked Bradley University (formerly "Tech") of Peoria, Ill.

One of the reasons that Rupp named Bradley was that they have been in the first position for well over a month.

Voting listed Bradley with 1,269 points; Holy Cross with 1,134.

Coach Rupp's Record Here Outstanding One

By Tom Diskin

Francois La Rochefoucauld, the French writer and philosopher, once commented "if you want enemies, excel your friends; if you want friends, let them excel you".

And since 1930, when he first came to U. of Kentucky, Coach Adolph Rupp has been excelling his coaching friends and making enemies left and right, especially in the South.

Some sportswriters used to label him as "The Most Disliked Coach in Dixie" and keeping the philosophy of La Rochefoucauld in mind, the reason is obvious.

In his very first season, Rupp became as unpopular as a skunk at a church picnic when he and his boys defeated 15 opponents in 18 games. And he has been losing friends ever since, as does Frank Leahy, head football coach at Notre Dame. Both Rupp and Leahy become more unpopular each season among many of their coaching brethren, chagrined at their constant failure to whip the Kentucky basketballers and the Notre Dame football eleven.

Has Lost Only 76 Games
Since coming here nearly 20 years ago, Coach Rupp has been beaten only 76 times in 481 contests—and only eight of these have been on the home court, Alumni Gym. This is certainly one of the finest records ever attained by a major college basketball coach.

Rupp's humorous remarks are scattered throughout the country. Wherever he goes to speak, the Baron usually leaves the audience laughing.

At the Sugar Bowl banquet in December, 1948, Rupp and Wally Weber, a member of the football staff of the University of Michigan, stole the show with their talks, which were just two of many by sports celebrities there in New Orleans from all over the nation.

One comment we'll remember for some time was made last season. We sat next to Rupp as his freshmen team slaughtered Campbells-ville Junior College, 111-37. After it was all over, and Spivey & Co. had left the scene of the murder, we remarked:

"Coach, it looks as if you have rounded up quite an outstanding bunch of freshmen players."

"Why, they're not so darned good," Rupp shot back, "the varsity beats them every time they scrimmage".

(On this varsity team were a few players you might have heard of, namely, Alex Groza, Ralph Beard, Walt Jones, Cliff Barker, Walt Hirsch, Jim Line, et. al.)

One of the foremost reasons for Rupp's noted success with basketball teams in the past is his uncanny ability to spot a potentially-great player.

For years now, Coach Rupp has looked over dozens and dozens of high school athletes and can generally spot which ones will make the tough college grade.

Bill Spivey is an outstanding example. Ignored by several other universities, Rupp saw that he might be a diamond in the rough and kept him here, much to the sorrow of UK opponents.

Sports Review

— By Tom Diskin, Sports Editor —

The University's new "Memorial Coliseum" will be ready for basketball "in about two or three more weeks", according to one of the top engineers on the job.

But, of course, by that time the Wildcats' season will have been completed, which is very regrettable.

Labor strikes, bad weather, plus shortages of men and materials from time to time slowed up construction on the $4,000,000 structure.

For a while this winter, it was hoped that the fieldhouse would be ready for the final six home games (February 11 through 25). But a strike late in January snuffed out the last faint flicker of hope that it would be finished.

The Coliseum was started in March, 1947. It will probably be completed in March, 1950—or a total of 36 months.

Many weeks ago, Coach Adolph Rupp stated glumly that "it will take longer to build that than it did the Empire State Building in New York City".

Just for the record, we checked in the library for the time needed in erecting the world's largest building.

We learned that the 1250-foot Empire State Building was constructed in about one and one-half years.

Demolition of the old Waldorf Astoria Hotel was begun on Oct. 1, 1929. Just 19 months later, on May 1, 1931, the new Empire State Building was opened for use on the old Waldorf-Astoria site.

Furthermore, our source said that "at times, construction advanced 4 1/2 stories a week".

In other words, it will take about twice as long to put up the Memorial Coliseum as it did the world's tallest building.

Cincinnati Gardens, which has a seating capacity of 13,000 for basketball as compared to 11,650 for the Coliseum, was erected in the rapid time of 15 months.

According to Earl Ruby, of the Courier-Journal, the structure will be dedicated to the war dead on Memorial Day (May 30) . . . and "its sports facilities will be christened officially in the fall with a basketball game featuring Notre Dame and the UK Wildcats".

Congratulations to Bill Spivey and Cliff Hagan for their new scoring records. As everyone knows, Spivey broke Alex Groza's SEC mark of 38 points for one game (Georgia, 1949), when he plunked in 40 tallies against Georgia Tech last Saturday. We feel this is just the beginning for "Grits" Spivey. For next season, he'll probably hit 40 or more points several times. And to think several coaches told him that he would never amount to much as a basketball player—including a few in Georgia.

Spivey's average for this season going into last night's Xavier game was 19.1, with 459 points in 24 games. George Mikan, in his sophomore year at DePaul, finished with an 18.6 average, or 486 points in 26 games.

Cliff Hagan, 6-4 freshman from Owensboro, smashed the Kentucky Kittens' record when he flipped in 38 points against Campbellsville Junior College last week.

For the benefit of the out-of-state alumni readers who might not have heard of Cliff Hagan, here are some interesting facts on the 18-year-old center who enrolled at UK this past semester and is considered a tremendous prospect.

The 205-pound Hagan is probably best remembered for his record-breaking 41 points against Lexington's Lafayette High School last year.

HAVE YOU TRIED THIS EASIER, BETTER WAY TO ROASTER-FRESH COFFEE?

Next time you know you're going to have to stay up late studying, pick up a jar of Nescafé.

Nothing helps you through long sessions like coffee. And no coffee is easier to make than Nescafé. It's instant. Simply put one teaspoonful of Nescafé in a cup, add hot water (preferably boiling), stir.

Good? It's delicious! Nescafé just naturally makes a better cup of coffee.

because it always keeps its roaster-fresh flavor until you release it in the cup.

Yes, Nescafé gives you all the flavor and "lift" of pure, freshly roasted, freshly brewed coffee, without the fuss and muss of brewing.

Nescafé is the instant way to pure coffee enjoyment. If you like good coffee—you'll love Nescafé. Keep it on hand for all occasions.

More people drink Nescafé than all other instant coffees!

*Nescafé (pronounced NES-CAFAY) is the exclusive registered trademark of The Nestlé Company, Inc. to designate its soluble coffee product which is composed of equal parts of pure soluble coffee and added pure carbohydrates (dextrose, maltose and dextrin) added solely to protect the flavor.

Ticket No. 23

Ticket book coupon No. 23 will be good for admission tomorrow night at Alumni Gym where the Wildcats will make their final home appearance of the regular season against the strong Vanderbilt Commodores from Nashville. Game time is 8 o'clock.

The freshmen meet the American Legion Post of Jeffersonville, Ind., in a preliminary game, which will get underway at 6 p.m. The doors will be opened at 5:30 o'clock.

SEC Ticket Sale

The sale of tickets for the coming SEC basketball tournament in Louisville, March 2-3-4, will close at noon on Wednesday, March 1. Students may purchase them at the ticket office in Alumni Gym.

16, with the finals to be held on Saturday night, March 18.

The NCAA Eastern playoffs will be at the same site on Thursday, March 23 and Saturday, March 25. The Western Division NCAA meet will be on March 24 and 25 in Kansas City's magnificent Municipal Auditorium.

The winners of the Eastern and the Western playoffs then get together for the NCAA championship in Madison Square Garden on Tuesday night, March 28.

In the current issue of Sport Magazine, Alex Groza, of the Olympians, has an article on "How I Play Mikan". Says Alex, who will be returning to UK for the summer term, "If you can't stop him from scoring, the least you can do for your team is try to cancel out his point by throwing in a bunch of your own".

In the two meetings this season, Mikan outscored Groza 29 points to 21 in the first clash, but the ex-Kentucky great whipped in 38 tallies to Mikan's 31 in the other duel.

There is a good possibility that the two will again meet in the post-season playoffs.

Speaking of the Olympians, Ralph Beard drew some real praise from Al Cervi, the player-coach of the Syracuse Nationals. "If we had Ralph Beard on our team, nobody could ever beat us", said Cervi, whose team is pacing the pro league with a brilliant record of 41 wins in 49 games.

Louisville sports followers are concerned over the fact that their city may soon lose three basketball tournaments in the near future.

The Southeastern Conference will be pulling out of the Armory for good after this season's meet. The SEC starts a round robin schedule next year which will eliminate the post-season tourney.

Then the Ohio Valley Conference is seriously thinking about leaving the Louisville Armory, since the U. of L. is no longer in the league. They are considering holding the next OVC meet here in our new Coliseum, if possible, or in Huntington, W. Va., the home of Marshall College. Owensboro's Sportscenter is another possibility.

As if this wasn't enough, the State high school basketball tourney might be moved here to Lexington next March.

Indiana and Tennessee lead in producing players for the 1949-50 Vanderbilt Commodore basketball team. Four of the 11 players are from the Hoosier state while Tennessee has also produced four.

There are one each from New Jersey, Ohio, and Kentucky. Kentucky's representative is Ed Waits from Cynthiana.

Kentucky has had eighteen members of its Wildcat basketball squares named to All-American teams since 1921.

Name '50 All-Tourney Five And Win A Prize

The Chesterfield cigarette company is conducting a contest for the UK students in connection with the Southeastern Conference basketball tournament next week.

The rules are simple and any student at UK is eligible. And you needn't submit a pint of blood or the right arm of your mother to win the prize.

Here are the contest rules:

1. Pick the five basketball players who you believe will be named on the 1950 All-SEC Tournament first team, listing their positions.

2. Mail in to Tom Diskin, Sports Editor, UK, Lexington 29, or leave entry addressed as above at University Post Office BEFORE noon of Friday, March 3.

3. Only one entry is allowed each student, who should be sure to put full address on his or her ballot.

4. Any kind of entry blank is acceptable. However, if a winner submits his list on the inside part of a Chesterfield pack, an additional prize will be awarded him.

5. The contest is open also to UK Pharmacy College students at Louisville as well as those in the Northern Kentucky branch at Covington.

6. The prize for the winning contestant is 600 satisfactory Chesterfield cigarettes, or three full cartons. In case of more than one winner the cartons will be equally divided, as if there are three winners, each will receive one carton.

However, with the five All-Tournament players of the 1949 tourney gone, this should be a wide open affair. Last March, the coaches and sportswriters named Wah Jones (UK) and Warren Perkins (Tulane) at forwards; Alex Groza (UK) at center; and Virgil Risner (Tulane) and Ralph Beard (UK) at the guard posts. Risner, now a senior, was cut from the Tulane team last month for breaking training rules, while the other four stars completed their athletic eligibility last season.

The All-Tournament five will be selected immediately following the SEC title game, Saturday night, March 4.

Mail your entry in today.

Vandy, Cats Vie For SEC Lead

Vanderbilt's Commodores sail into

Lexington tomorrow night with the deliberate intention of capturing the unofficial Southeastern Conference crown by defeating the perennial champion Kentucky Wildcats.

Vandy with an 11-2 conference record is 13 percentage points better than the Cats who have a 10-2 record, and this final game will clinch the round robin title for either team.

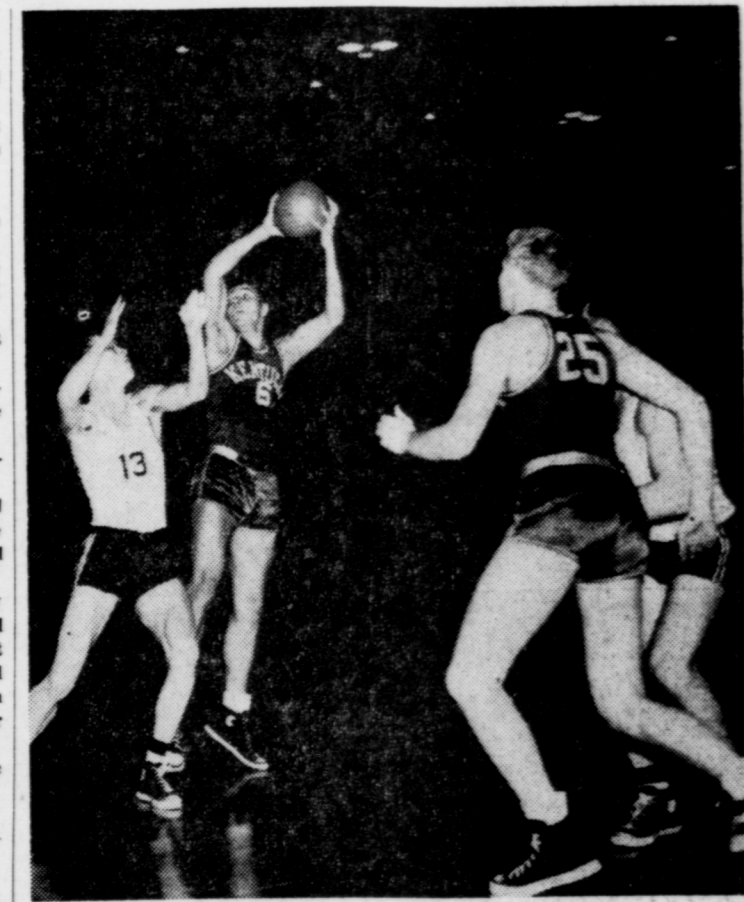

Of course the official champion will not be recognized until the tourney finals have been played next week.

Big gun in the Commodore barrage is All Conference Billy Joe Adecock. Nashville's pride and joy will be playing his last regular season game for Vandy, and he wants it to be his best. He has a 15 point average per game during his four year play at Vanderbilt and wants this sign out performance to be a good one.

Captain Dale Barnstable, one of the top defensive regulars on the Wildcats for the last two years, rates Adecock as one of the most difficult men he has ever had to guard.

"I played against Bob Cousy of Holy Cross, Dick McGuire of St. Johns, Virgil Risner of Tulane, and Paul Walther of Tennessee, but Adecock is about the toughest," states

Barney. "He gets his shots off in a hurry, and from anywhere."

The other senior on the squad is Center Pete Robinson, only 6'4" but a giant under the backboards. Sophomore Dave Kardokus gave the Cats a hard time in the first meeting of the two teams this season. Bob Dudley Smith and veteran Hank Duvier round out the Commodores' starting lineup.

Ed Waits, a transfer student from Transylvania College who played his high school ball at Cynthiana High, will also make the trip with the Vanderbilt squad. Jack Wampler, a reserve guard who gets a laugh every time he steps on the court, is considered the clown of the team, should see action tomorrow night.

Kentucky defeated Vanderbilt earlier in the season in a nip and tuck affair down in Nashville, but they had to come from behind in the last two minutes with a five point spurge to do it, 58-54. Neither team seemed to have a definite edge, the decision could very well be reversed at the final meeting.

No doubt about it. Vanderbilt could cut Kentucky's home court winning streak at 83 games. They're ready to.

Spivey Scores 40 As Wildcats Clip Ga. Tech

By Kent Hollingsworth

Not enough can be said about Big Bill Spivey's record-shattering performance here last Saturday night against Georgia Tech.

The long "Georgia Pine" from Warner Robins went wild against his home-state and racked up 40 points to break Alex Groza's single-game mark of 38 points which he scored last season here against U. of Georgia.

The 40 points was a new record for a UK player; for Alumni Gym (college ball); and for the Southeastern Conference.

"Grits" Hits From Circle Here is how the record-smashing shot was made. Walt Hirsch got the ball to Spivey through a maze of arms and legs right after a time-out, but "Grits" missed on a jump shot. Kentucky gained possession of the ball three times after that, but couldn't get the ball to Spivey as four Tech players crowded around him like a kid does near Santa Clause on Christmas.

Finally Hirsch whipped the ball to him at the head of the circle. Spivey fired a 15-foot one-hander that hardly touched the nets and the new mark was established.

Hirsch Outstanding Walt Hirsch played a brilliant game. His passing was a pleasure to watch. On one play he passed the entire length of the floor, over the heads of four Techsters. Lane took this pass and laid it in for a goal.
